

SNOW BLOCKADES TRAINS TWO DAYS

Blizzard Is Worst In History Of Northwestern Ashland Division

Train service on the Northwestern road was restored to practically normal Tuesday after what railroad men declared was the worst snow blockade on the Ashland division, extending from Saturday morning until Monday morning. The storm which was general over the middle west tied up rail traffic for two days. No Northwestern trains were sent out of Chicago for thirty-six hours.

Sunday afternoon a Northwestern passenger train pushed its way through the drifts from Antigo to Ashland, this being the first train of any kind on this division since Saturday morning. This train carried no mail and was run chiefly as a track breaker.

In the southern part of the state the snow fall was enormous. Drifts came to the tops of the coaches and it was impossible for trains to tunnel their way through. Rotary plows were put in use as soon as the storm subsided and all day Sunday and Monday operated up and down the line. The first Northwestern train from the south, carrying mail into Rhinelander was 111 Monday morning which arrived here five hours late.

So line trains were only slightly delayed, being not more than one hour off their schedule. The storm was not severe between Minneapolis and Sapulpa Ste. Marie. All Soo line traffic on the Chicago division between Minneapolis and Chicago was at a stand still.

REGISTER MEN TO 45

Adjutant General Crowder has recommended that men be registered between the ages of 21 and 45. He also recommends registering who have come of age since June 5, 1917, but does not favor lowering the age limit for drafting below 21.

The same rules as to calling on the older class of registered men are to apply as with the younger class. Men may claim exemption on the ground of family responsibilities or for occupational reasons. Men between 31 and 45 would be used for occupational work mainly in connection with the army, but many, who preferred and were physically fit, would doubtless have opportunity to get into the fighting.

This new registration will not be done of course, unless congress passes a law ordering it.

FOUR INDIANS SENT TO JAIL

Sentences in the Ashland county jail were passed by Federal Judge A. L. Sanborn in Madison Friday upon four Indians from the Bad River reservation, under indictment for introducing liquor. George Jameson of Odanah pleaded not guilty and furnished $250 bond. George Morrison, a redskin, likewise denied guilt and went back to Odanah with the marshal to arrange a $1,000 bond. The four pleading guilty drew the following punishment: John M. White, four months and $200 fine; Jim Sharlow, 90 days and $200 fine; Benjamin Holbrook, 60 days and $100 fine; Fred Barshig, 60 days and $100 fine.

MAIL TO FRANCE

Postmaster Matt Stapleton has received revised instructions concerning rates and instructions applicable to mail sent to the United States Expeditionary forces in Europe. All mail is subject to domestic classifications. Custom declarations are not required nor are war tax stamps necessary. It is recommended that parcels be mailed in strong wooden or cardboard boxes, and that the name be written in ink and in two separate places. Parcels should not weigh more than seven pounds.

WILL BE PRESENT AT ROAD SCHOOL

State Divisional Highway Engineer Sargent, County Road Commissioner Parker and perhaps others from this county interested in highway construction and maintenance will attend the seventh annual road school of the Wisconsin highway commission in Madison Feb. 4 to 9, inclusive.

The week will be devoted to live topics of interest to road builders. The commission announces that 1918 will be a road maintenance year in Wisconsin, and the program is largely devoted to topics and discussion which will help Wisconsin's road builders to save roads already built, and maintain the new state trunk highway system.

Subjects for discussion each day are fixed as follows: Feb. 4, "Retrospect and Prospect"; Feb. 5, "Construction"; Feb. 6, "Administration"; Feb. 7, "Maintenance"; Feb. 8, "County Day and County Maintenance"; Feb. 9, other features.

ESCAPES DEATH BY CLOSE MARGIN

To escape death by a very narrow margin—in fact by only a few inches—was the portion handed out by fate to Victor Linden of Westboro Tuesday, states the Prentice News-Calendar.

The accident occurred at the Morner-Kertula camp five miles north of Tripoli.

The injury happened when the unfortunate man misjudged the direction a tree would fall. The heavy tree while falling caught and pinned him between its trunk and a log which had been fallen before. His legs were caught a few inches above the knees, breaking the right one and badly injuring the other.

The unfortunate man was taken to the hospital at Rhinelander the same day but the injury is of such serious nature that it will be many long weeks before he can resume his work again.

BOARD ACCEPTS AUDIT REPORT

The county board which has been in session since Wednesday noon closed this afternoon at 4:30 to meet again Tuesday, March 19th, at 2 p. m. The ordinary batch of bills was allowed.

CHIEF STRAUB IN CHICAGO

Chief of Police Maurice Straub received a telegram from the United States district attorney's office in Chicago Saturday requesting him to appear there without delay. Chief Straub left for Chicago Sunday night. It is believed that he is wanted as a witness in a case in federal court. Assistant Chief John O'Brien is acting as chief this week.

MRS. R. C. DAYTON

After an extended illness Mrs. R. C. Dayton, formerly of this city, passed away Saturday night near Grand Rapids, Mich., where the family resided on a farm. News of the lady's death was first received here Monday by Dr. F. L. Hinman.

Mr. and Mrs. Dayton after a long residence in this city moved to Michigan nearly a year ago where Mr. Dayton engaged in farming. Mrs. Dayton's health commenced to fail a number of months ago and her decline was steady. Her many friends here are pained to learn of her death. She leaves her husband and two children, Willard Dayton who is a student at Wisconsin University, and Mrs. Wayne Watson, who lives in Menasha, Minn.

As By Your Mother!

And for your country, boy, and for that flag, never a dream but of serving her as she bids you, even though the service carry you through a thousand hells. No matter what happened to you, no matter who flatters you or who abuses you, never look at another flag, never let a night pass but you pray God to bless that flag. Remember, boy, that behind officers and governments, and people even, there is the Country Herself; Your Country, and that you belong to Her as you belong to your own mother. Stand by Her, boy, as you would stand by your mother.—Edward Everett Hale.

DISTRICT DRAFT BOARD ACTIVE

Last week the district draft board consisting of A. H. Wilkinson of Bayfield, chairman, Guy J. Johnson of Eau Claire, secretary, W. B. Heineman of Wausau, Louis Hantich of Superior and Dr. H. L. Garner of this city, met in Ashland.

The district draft board has a great deal of hard work ahead of it and at the present time is just getting ready for what is to come. Under its jurisdiction there are over 50,000 registered men and out of that number there is bound to be many appeals from the decisions of the different local boards in classifying the registrants. The district draft board will decide these appeals.

The district board was not in Ashland to listen to appeals, however, but to get a line on the industrial situation so that they will be better able to listen to appeals for deferred classifications for industrial reasons, and judge same conscientiously.

The members of the district board will meet in all the business centers of the district and go over the industrial situation and employers of labor and find out just exactly the labor situation in regard to the district.

ROGERS EXPERT AT ROD MAKING

D. A. Rogers, proprietor of Wildwood Resort and who is in charge of the billiard room at the Oneida this winter, spends his leisure time making casting rods and repairing old rods. Mr. Rogers is an expert at this line of work and some of the rods which he has recently made cannot be improved on for workmanship, beauty and durability. At repairing rods he never fails to do a first class job.

Mr. Rogers says fishermen should have their rods repaired now and he will be pleased to give all jobs prompt attention. His prices for new rods and repair work are very reasonable.

FORGET RISE IN FEE

Chief Straub has received word that in remitting to the state a number of persons running automobiles have overlooked the fact that the license fee has been raised, and have sent in the old fee of $5.

The new fees are:

Passenger cars, $10.

Trucks—When operated wholly in the city, $10. Operating in both city and country, $15 for cars carrying less than 2,100 pounds; $20 on cars carrying between 2,100 and 5,100 pounds, and $25 on cars above the latter capacity. Dealers are to pay $25 and owners of motorcycles $1.

QUIET WEDDING AT SANNS HOME

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Sanns on W. Davenport St. last Thursday evening Rev. C. H. Wicks of the Congregational church officiated at the ceremony which united in marriage their daughter, Miss Mabel, and Mr. Ivar Larson of Barron. The ceremony was a quiet one, only members of the family being present. Miss Tessie Sanns attended her sister and Mr. Raymond Nettling was best man.

The bride is a graduate of the Rhinelander high school and was formerly a member of the "Mason-Donaldson Lumber company's office force. For the last two years she has made her home in Barron. She is a young lady whose pleasing personality has won her many friends.

Mr. Larson is one of the progressive young farmers of Barron county and is highly respected in his community.

Mr. and Mrs. Larson will reside on his farm near Barron. The New North wishes them happiness.

CHIEF NOTIFIES GERMAN ALIENS

Straub Informs Subjects Of Kaiser That They Must Register

Maurice Straub, chief of police, issued a notice to German subjects in Rhinelander, notifying them of the president's proclamation, requiring them to be registered in the month of February. In the country districts of Oneida county the work is in the hands of postmasters which probably means that Postmaster Matt Stapleton will have to handle those on rural routes out of the city.

Each enemy alien must have four photographs made of himself. They must be unmounted and not over 3 by 3 inches in size. They must be brought into the chief's office in February with other information wanted.

The order at present affects only men born in Germany who have not become naturalized Americans. It does not affect women, nor naturalized Germans, nor subjects of Austria, Turkey or Bulgaria. The United States is now at war with Austria, and Austrian subjects may be required to register later. At present they are not called for. Other persons exempt from registering are men born in what is now German territory who removed therefrom before the place of their birth was annexed to Germany. This would exempt men born in Alsace-Lorraine before May 10, 1871, or in Schleswig-Holstein before August 23, 1866, even though they have not been naturalized.

GOODMAN MAN IS FROZEN TO DEATH

Walter Larson, 30 years, clerk in the store of the Goodman Lumber company, in Goodman, was frozen to death near Anderson Spur, about ten miles north of Pembine Saturday night.

Larson's body was found near the track and taken to Niagara, Wis. His relatives reside in Norway, Mich.

Larson was on his way home with his friend, John Champagne, another employee of the Goodman Lumber company, who lives in from Mountain. They tried to walk from Pembine to their home because there was no train service.

Larson became exhausted so Champagne built a fire and told him to rest and he then went on to Iron Mountain, about five miles further, arriving there in an exhausted condition. Champagne notified the chief of police and men were sent out to get Larson. Larson had left the fire and was found about a mile further up the track.

INCOME TAX MAN IN RHINELANDER

A deputy representing the Treasury Department is in Rhinelander and he will be glad to assist all persons in making out their income tax returns. He can be found in Room 63, Oneida Hotel. It is the intention of Mr. Williams, the Collector of Internal Revenue, to get all possible cooperation with the large manufacturing plants and it is his purpose to have his deputies go to the offices of these plants to make out returns there in order to get in close touch with those who will be required to make a return. Payments of over $800 to be reported to the Treasury Department will be applicable not only to employees, but it will reach the farmers, as well.

It is the purpose of the Internal Revenue Collector to call upon every creamery, cheese factory, and condenser in this federal district, as well as on all produce men, grain buyers, etc., to make a report of every farmer to whom they have paid $500 or more during the year 1917.

Under the new federal law, every unmarried man having an income of $1000 and over, and every married man having an income of $2000 and over, must make a report, and all persons who think they are obligated to pay should get in touch with the United States Tax Collector for failure to make return when liable automatically makes a person an offender against the laws of the United States, punishable by fine or imprisonment. Not only is this the case, but the man who at this time pays the United States his full and honest tax, shows real patriotism.

LAST NUMBER ON COURSE, JAN. 23

Mrs. A. F. Paska Will Appear Here In "The War Brides"

The Woman's Club will give the last number in their entertainment course on next Wednesday night, Jan. 23 at high school, when Mrs. A. F. Paska appears in "War Brides." This is a play from the pen of Marian Craig Wentworth and has proven popular with the audiences wherever given.

Mrs. Paska has presented this play in Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Green Bay, Burlington, St. Louis and many other large cities. The press comments are high in their praises of Mrs. Paska's ability.

The Burlington Press—"Mrs. Paska read War Brides beautifully, bringing out all the strong points in the various characters, making her audience see each one as tho they were actually on the stage. She has a pleasing voice and a charming personality and added to this her ability to interpret characters makes her a reader to charm any audience."

The Green Bay Gazette—"Mrs. Paska is an acknowledged master of entertainment, a linguist, a lady who can with consummate skill present to us the eccentricities and humors of the various national dialects."

A musical program will also be given with this number. The club is hoping to be able to have a tidy sum to turn over to the Board of Education as a result of their course. This money will be used in beautifying the grounds at high school. Buy a ticket to War Brides, you will not only have the benefit of a pleasant and instructive program but you will also be helping to make the entrance to our fine new high school a wee bit more attractive. Admission 25 and 35 cents.

ONEIDA HOTEL ONE YEAR OLD

One year ago Tuesday, January 15, the Oneida hotel in this city was opened to the public. The anniversary was allowed to pass quietly and without observance of any kind.

The Oneida is one of the most magnificent and up to date hotels in Wisconsin and is a source of pride to the people of this city. The business men and other citizens, who through their untiring efforts and financial support made the building of this beautiful structure possible, are to be congratulated for their enterprise and fine public spirit.

E. W. Wilkowski, who since the opening of the Oneida has acted as its manager, has proved himself most capable in that position. He is a specialist in the art of pleasing guests and among the traveling fraternity he is popular.

Patrons of the Oneida have nothing but words of praise for the excellence of the service and the courtesy of Mr. Wilkowski and the various members of his staff.

NEW COMMANDER

Brigadier General Edward McGlachlin, a Stevens Point man who has a large acquaintance in Rhinelander, on Monday became acting commander of Camp MacArthur.

MINOCQUA

(Minocqua Times)

The service flag in the Evenson home will now bear two stars instead of one as another member of that household has joined the colors. The second Evenson to answer the call of his country is Harold. He enlisted in the Signal Corps of the U. S. War Service. He will leave for Fort Leavenworth, Kansas tonight, where he will go into training. Harold is a son of H. O. Evenson.

A very enjoyable time was had at a social gathering at the T. M. Bolger residence last Thursday evening, January 3, about fifteen young folks being present. The evening was spent in playing cards and other forms of amusement. Refreshments were served at 11:30 o'clock.

On December 27, 1917, Judge Reid entered an order that the ex-officials of the town of Minocqua, defendants in the cases brought against them by the town of Minocqua, should file their answers to the complaints of the town within twenty days from the above date. The cases referred to above have been pending for the past year and one-half as a result of technical points brought up by the defendants, so we are informed. If further delays are not made the cases will be brought to a speedy trial, and will probably be tried during the March term of court.

Several pictures concerning the sinking of a German submarine by the U. S. destroyer "Fanning" appeared in the daily papers of last week. That a Minocqua boy, Einar Madsen, son of Mr. and Peter Madsen, was in all probabilities on the destroyer is quite noteworthy.

A bright baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Leland today, Thursday, Jan. 10.

Mrs. Nobles who departed a short time ago for the west informs us that she arrived safely at the home of her son, Frank, St. Maries, Idaho, where she visited, leaving later for Spokane. She states that the weather there is mild and very rainy and that land slides are frequent.

RHINELANDER PROOF

Should Convince Every Rhinelander Reader

The frank statement of a neighbor, telling the merits of a remedy. Bids you pause and believe. The same endorsement by some stranger far away Commands no belief at all. Here's a Rhinelander case. A Rhinelander citizen testifies. Read and be convinced.

Frank Rogers, cabinet maker, 730 Wabash St., Rhinelander, says: "My back ached and I had pains through my joints. My kidneys were weak, too. I finally got Doan's Kidney Pills at Reardon's Drug Store and they gave me great relief."

OVER TWO YEARS LATER Mr. Rogers said: "I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills off and on since I recommended them and have always found good results. I think just as highly of them now as I did when I gave my former endorsement."

Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Rogers has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

CANT SNARE RABBITS

Under the hunting laws passed at the last session of the legislature, it is illegal for anyone to trap or snare rabbits. Conservation Warden Gwidt says that this law is being indiscriminately violated by hunters and trappers, possibly through not knowing the law but that it must stop or there will be wholesale arrests.

You cannot have in your possession any snare, trap or contrivance for driving rabbits out of their holes or dens. Hunters can of course hunt rabbits but cannot ship them unless they have the number of their trappers license on the consignment. Mr. Gwidt has asked that publicity be given to the law so that all the hunters of Rhinelander and vicinity will know of the law.

GERMAN PRICES

Some idea of the high prices that prevail in Germany is given in the following article, taken from a dry goods journal:

"We think that prices are high in the United States now and have a sigh every time advances are quoted, so it is somewhat of a relief to know what the Germans in Germany are paying for certain items. Their 'war prices' make ours look low, indeed.

"The woman who goes down town to purchase a wool gabardine that was formerly the equivalent of 72 cents a yard in United States money, must now pay $9.60 a yard. Velvet that was sold at $1.44 in Germany before the war now costs $12. Sateens that were 20 cents a yard, now $2.88. Voiles that were 13 cents a yard, are now $2.88. Half wool cloth that was 38 cents a yard now brings $5.76.

"Sewing silk was 1 1/2 cents a spool, but is now 15 cents. Cotton thread that was 4 cents is now 22 cents. Infants' cotton were 72 cents a dozen are now $11.52. Women's woolen stockings that were sold at 66 cents a pair now bring $3.60.

"It is said that cotton cloth and thread is very scarce in Germany and that buttons are being fastened to cloth with wire."

Whoop For Hoover!

I have seen Hoover! Any doubts I might have had concerning his being a big man and competent for the big job he has on hand disappeared when he began to talk of that job in a serious, quiet, and modest fashion. He begged us to preach conservation of food—morning, noon and night. While I cannot hope to put across his sermon any better than the others have, nobody can hear his appeal, personally, without the desire to try it.

It is quite likely that you have felt, as I have, a divided desire on the one hand to be patriotic and follow requests to cut waste, and on the other hand an almost unconquerable desire to eat the very foods we are begged not to. This is partly because of the "cussed contrariness" that is in many of us. Hoover knows that this is so because he says that notwithstanding the fact that we have been the most wasteful people in the world of food fats and notwithstanding the appeals to cut wastes, the consumption, instead of decreasing since the war began, has actually increased ten per cent.

One of the troubles with us is that we do not appear to realize fully that we are actually in this war and that the food we supply our Allies is just as important to the winning of it as are explosives, ships, aeroplanes, and even the soldiers themselves. With this thought in mind, it ought not to be a difficult matter to restrain our appetites a little or to learn to eat those foods which cannot be sent abroad because of the fact that they are too bulky for the limited number of ships or because they are perishable.

But if patriotic appeals won't reach you, you are too piggy to care about the country or the boys who will risk their lives in the trenches, consider what has been said before in this column, that your own health will be better, and your chance of living to a decent old age will be increased by "Hooverizing for Health". Already I know men, women, and children who are in far better health because they are eating coarser foods and less meat, pastry, rich cake, and candy.

"For the cause that lacks assistance;
For the wrong that needs resistance;
For the future in the distance
And the good that we can do."

The Susan B. Anthony amendment to the federal constitution granting suffrage to women was approved by the house of representatives last week by a vote of 271 to 136. The amendment now goes to the senate.

The suffragists had not a single vote to spare, although Speaker
Clark, who did not vote, in accordance with custom, would have cast
a vote in favor of the amendment and saved it from defeat had it lacked one vote of the required two-thirds majority. Two-thirds of those voting today was 271.

Governor Philipp still insists that the people of the state are not competent or safe to do their own business at the polls that is to elect a U. S. Senator to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Senator Paul Hustling, so the governor has done everything in his power up to date to prevent this step. Mr. Philipp says by word and by deed that he is the real man to do this work.

When the people cannot be trusted to do their own voting the state is in a bad way.

It is this belief by rulers that destroys a democratic form of government.

The astonishing revelation was made at Washington the other day that the British government has been forced by the coal shortage and freight congestion in the United States to ship coal from England to New York harbor to supply its merchant ships waiting for fuel.

This carrying of coal from New castle to the United States, the greatest coal producing country in the world, never had been contemplated as a war necessity by the British government until the present alarming condition of fuel supply developed. Until a few days ago 260 merchant ships were lying in the roadsteads at New York laden with supplies for the allies unable to move because of lack of bunker
coal.

SECRETARY BAKER

The lack of speed in the war department has caused much investigation and general criticism the past few weeks. However it is reported that the President is satisfied with Mr. Baker.

Mr. Baker is satisfied with the supply, equipment, and condition of our troops abroad.

Mr. Baker is satisfied with the progress of our preparation made up to this time and with the prospects of further progress.

Mr. Baker is, finally, entirely satisfied with Secretary of War Newton D. Baker, with his action and inaction, with his judgments and policies.

Perhaps this satisfaction is natural in an official who is three thousand miles away from the battle front, but we do not think it is shared by the majority of people.

McCUMBER ON WAR

Senator McCumber of North Dakota, Wednesday gave the senate a gloomy picture of the U. S. and her allies in emphasizing his plea for radical speeding up of the shipbuilding program. He declared England was now bearing the brunt of the war and asked "How long can she stand this strain?"
The United States must send five million troops to balance the manpower of the central powers, he said, and seven million would be needed to make the Germans retreat.

"Russia and Roumania are out of the war", asserted Senator McCumber. "Italy is losing ground. France is unable to make any headway. The wall of opposition at the eastern end of the battle line in continental Europe is crumbling. Who can say how long Italy can or will withstand the Teutonic pressure? Optimistic indeed must be the man who will say a single year without additional support. With Italy under the heel of the conqueror, with France assailed in the flank, who can prophesy that that country will not quickly be brought under the heel
of the same conqueror and England's army left to battle against overwhelming numbers?"

"This is delineating two things,
first, the exact situation as it now is and second, the possibilities of the future and it is presented with the hope that we will at least partially awaken to a realization of what is before us."

Senator McCumber said the idea that pointing out our weakness discourage the American people and encouraged the enemy was a mistaken one and declared "we must now learn the lesson that boasting will not win this war."

"The entente powers have about reached their limit," he said, "To balance the man-power of the central powers this country would have to send 5,000,000 men," and argued that another million was necessary to overbalance the geographical advantage of the central nations and another million if the U. S. and her allies wished to be the aggressors in other words 7,000-000 to make the Germans retreat.

"When the U. S. entered the war the allies cried 'Give us Ships,'" declared Senator McCumber. "We allayed their fears, we assured them we would supply that shipping. We took that duty upon ourselves, the most important, the most vital duty incumbent upon us in this war. And we have neglected that duty beyond any other, shamefully neglected it."

Senator McCumber recommended that the U. S. stop sending soldiers to France now and use all available tonnage for food for the allies, stimulate efforts to attempt to produce a ship immune to torpedo attack
and to make a full and adequate test
of reinforced concrete vessels.

GARDNER JUSTIFIED

Maj. Augustus Peabody Gardner, who died Monday, resigned from congress last spring to enter the American army which would fight the "Hun," because he believed in practicing what he began to preach
in and out of congress a few months after the great European conflict began.

When the war broke out Congressman Gardner, a member of the house since the fifty-eighth congress, was in Europe and he made an heroic trip from London to Flanders in an automobile to get his wife and family out of the danger zone. As soon as he returned to America Gardner began preaching preparedness with more vigor than any man in or out of congress and he was one of the first to predict that America eventually would be forced into the war.

Gardner was so imbued with the thought that the United States would have to fight Germany, and so keenly alive to the lack of America's preparations for war that he not only kept bombarding congress in a most virile way about conditions but he also carried his cry of alarm and awakening to the people touring the country making preparedness addresses and calling up on the people to open their eyes.

The Massachusetts congressman was so determined in his desire to arouse the country that he spared no one in authority, whom he thought lax in his duty to the government in the prophetic time. He assailed the war and navy departments vigorously, forced his way before military committees with the message, bobbed up in the house in the most unexpected moments with an attack upon conditions that existed, and in fact had officials of the government actually nervous in the early days of the war.

In truth Gardner's efforts were so stirring and so persistent that they attracted the attention of the president himself, who referred to him anonymously in one of his addresses to congress soon after the outbreak of the war, long before the imminence of America to the conflagration had occurred to him.

The president was addressing congress on Dec. 8, 1914, a few days after Gardner had made a rip-roaring preparedness plea to his colleagues. The president had said:
"We must depend in every time of national peril, in the future as in the past, not upon a standing army, nor yet upon a reserve army, but
on a citizenry trained and accustomed to arms." He had also discussed in a general way the navy and the condition of the country for defense, when he dropped the subject abruptly and said:

"But I turn away from the subject. It is not new. There is no new need to discuss it. We shall not alter our attitude because some few among us are nervous and excited.
We shall easily and sensibly agree upon a policy of defense."

As the president spoke those words he turned his eyes from his manuscript and focussed them directly upon Congressman Gardner
seated in the middle of the Republican section of the house chamber.
All eyes in the great assemblage followed the president's, and, although it was an embarrassing moment for the indefatigable congressman, he had the satisfaction many times since of feeling that he was fully justified in all that he had done and said at that time to arouse the nation. Chicago Tribune.

BAREFOOT BOY TO HAVE NEW STORE

P. L. Whittier, "The Barefoot Boy", who since engaging in the dry goods business in this city in May, 1915, has been located in the Arlington block, 135 S. Brown St., announces that on or about February 1, his store will be in the Hinman building 16 W. Davenport street.

The new location will afford Mr.
Whittier more room than his present store and the heating and lighting facilities are much better. The building has the largest one piece plate glass front in this city and this offers splendid opportunity for display. The building is modern in every detail and is very suitable for mercantile purposes.

During the twenty months in which Mr. Whittier has been numbered among the merchants of Rhinelander he has enjoyed an ever increasing patronage. First class merchandise and square business methods are factors which have contributed to his success. His sobriquet, "The Barefoot Boy" has become a household phrase in this city.

U. S. TO BUY COAL BILLED TO PLANTS

Washington, Jan. 17.—It developed today that under the fuel administration's plan, the government will buy all coal consigned to the suspended industries. These transactions will be conducted through the treasury department and it is estimated will cost the government about $25,000,000. State fuel administrators will re-distribute the coal to food plants and other industries permitted to run.

Under a provision with it was decided Thursday morning to insert in the order, the government will become the purchaser of virtually all coal produced in the five-day closing period. Mines producing coal under contract to industries which will be closed down will be directed to turn their output over to state fuel administrators under bill of lading attached. The treasury department will set aside $25-000,000 for the purchase of this coal.

Coal in transit to industry which will be closed will not be purchased by the government but merely will be diverted by state fuel administrators and turned over to consumers who come within the preferential list. The coal will be paid for

EASY TO BUY THRIFT STAMPS

Splendid Chance To Save Money And Help Win The War

Your country is at war. This war must be won. The most essential thing necessary to win is money. This money must be provided by the people of the land. In order to provide it and lend it to the government, earning interest and being beyond question of doubt, you must save.

It is easier to save in small amounts than it is to save big sums. To enable everybody within the land to save, a plan has been devised whereby you can begin with twenty-five cents, one quarter of a dollar.

You purchase a thrift stamp for twenty-five cents, and paste it on a thrift card. Such thrift card is furnished you when you buy your first thrift stamp. It has spaces for sixteen stamps.

As soon as your thrift card is filled you can acquire a war savings stamp. Then your money begins to earn interest at the rate of 4 per cent quarterly. You can also obtain war savings stamps by outright purchase for cash. The price of the war stamps varies, depending on the time when you acquire them. During this month it is $1.12, after January the price increases one cent each month, during the year of 1918.

The difference between your thrift card which represents $4.00 when all spaces are filled, and the price of a war savings stamp you pay in cash. That means if you acquire a war savings stamp this month you hand over your thrift card and pay twelve cents additional. In February you will have to pay thirteen cents additional, and so on an increase of one cent a month. This difference and increase represents the interest earned and is paid back at maturity. The stamps mature January 1, 1923, when the government will pay $5.00 for each of the war savings stamps owned by you.

With the purchase of the first war savings stamp you are furnished free a war savings certificate. This certificate has spaces for twenty war savings stamps. You paste the stamps on the certificate which, when filled represents $100 cash value on January 1, 1923.

If the twenty spaces on a war savings certificate are filled this month, the cost to the purchaser will be $4.12 for each stamp, or twenty times $4.12, that is, $82.40, for the full certificate. On the first day of January, 1923, the government will redeem the certificate for $100 in gold. This means that the holder gets a net profit of $17.60 for the use of his money.

Should you unexpectedly need cash money, you can get it at any time by surrendering your war savings certificates, either filled or partly filled. The government will pay back to you what you paid for it plus the interest increase of one cent each month for each war savings stamp on the certificate. A table of the cash surrender value is printed on the back of the war savings certificate. It is hoped, however, that this privilege will be exercised only in cases of necessity.

The stamps and certificates can be obtained from any post office or mail carrier, from banks or trust companies and from duly authorized stores and other places of business. Having the entire wealth of the United States behind them, depreciation in value is out of the question.

GUARDSMEN TO GO

Three divisions of national guardsmen will be the next to join General Pershing's forces in France. This announcement has been made by the war department. These three divisions are now training at Waco and Houston, Texas, and Spartanburg, South Carolina, and include national guard organizations from Wisconsin, Illinois, Michigan and New York. These three divisions have been declared by the inspector general's department to be in the high state of preparedness required before any arrangements are begun for their eventual embarkation over seas. The divisions are said to be fully equipped and organized into units according to the French system. Information as to the time of departure of the divisions, or the port or ports at which they will embark, has not been given out: nor will it be.

ASK SCHOOLS TO SUPPLY WORKERS

Meeting Is Called In This City To Discuss Problem On January 22

Madison, Jan. 12, 1918.

F. A. Lowell, Co. Supt. of Schools.

Dear Sir:—

The county conference for the purpose of conferring on how the schools can do their share in furnishing a supply of laborers for the farm will be held at the court house in Rhinelander, January 22, 1918, at ten o'clock a. m. The state authorities will be represented by Mr. J. M. Douans of the Dept. Public Instruction.

Besides the school people there will be present at the conference the chairman and secretary of the County Council of Defense, the chairman of the Labor Committee of the County Council, and the Agricultural Committee of that body, as well as the county agricultural representative or emergency food agent. Letters will be sent to these officials requesting their presence at the meeting and soliciting their cooperation, but in order to make sure that they understand the purpose of the meeting, I am asking that you extend a personal invitation to them.

I would esteem it a favor if you would bring this meeting to the attention of your local postmaster, the editors of your city papers, the Y. M. C. A. secretary in your community, and any others known to you to be interested in this work and invite them to attend. Also invite the members of your school board and the principals of your ward schools, and the president and secretary of the farmer organizations in your county.

Thanking you for your cooperation, I remain,

Yours very truly, J. B. BORDEN,

Asst. State Supt. and State Organizer for Farm Labor.

CLEARWATER LAKE

It is very quiet at Clearwater this time of the year on account of so many gone into the woods for the winter and those that are left at home are not stirring about much just now, on account of the steady zero weather we are having this month.

The Peterson boys are doing some logging near Columbus Lake, also getting out some firewood. Fred Kingman has secured a small interest in the same; of getting his winters wood. The boys have some for sale, such as tamarack and birch. They will sell it in pole length or stove length; any one wishing to buy can write the gentlemen or see them in person.

Frank and Ralph Kingman came up from their camp near Laona Jct. to spend Sabbath and Sunday. Ralph is sick of the cold weather and will start for Louisiana, a warmer climate.

Two of John Higgins' teams have left the farm with Carl Blank and Henry Hanson, their driver to haul logs in Boyer's camp north of Eagle River.

Mr. Boyer has about 73 men in his camp, seven saws running and is doing a big business. Arthur Hermann of Polar has a half interest in same.

We have a run of the mumps in our neighborhood; most of the families are affected by it, so that the church, and school will close for this week.

Howard Moses has been on the sick list with asthma for a few days, but is able to be out again and attend to his logging job on Mr. Higgins' farm.

Gus Holms has been very sick and under the medical attention of Dr. Meyer, but at this writing is improving.

CASEY JONES IN 1918

BERTON BRALEY

1.

Casey Jones in the days of yore
Worked on the Katy and the old Lake Shore,
Did his bit on the L. and N.
But now he's one of Uncle Sammy's men.
Said Uncle Sam, "Now we're in the war
Why, I'm the boss that you're working for,
You drove on the Reading and the B. and O.,
You can do the same while I run the show."

REFRAIN

Casey Jones, working for the nation,
Casey Jones, always cool and calm,
Casey Jones, working for the nation,
Gets his running orders from his Uncle Sam.

2.

Open the throttle and let her roll,
You've got a rush order for the country's coal;
The private owners couldn't get it thru
So we gave the job to Mr. McAdoo—Casey Jones will sure be glad to hear
The track is open and the block is clear;
When the freight's congested he will break the jam
Now Casey Jones is working for his Uncle Sam.

REFRAIN

Casey Jones, working for the nation,
Casey Jones, helping break the jam,
Casey Jones, working for the nation,
Does his very darndest for his Uncle Sam.

3.

Said Casey Jones, "When the country calls
It finds me fit and ready in my overalls;
On the Southern Pacific or the Santa Fe
Or the New York Central you can call on me.
I'll rush munitions and the beef and wheat,
The things that soldiers need to fight and eat;
I'll toot the whistle and I'll ring the bell
And I'll do my bit to give the kaiser h—ll."

REFRAIN

Casey Jones, run her thru-her-slam!
Casey Jones, working for the nation,
Casey Jones, working for the nation,
Helps to can the kaiser for his Uncle Sam!

CERTAINLY NEEDS CHANGING

We wouldn't blame any, young couple for leaving the state to marry. The way the new marriage law is doped out the parties' names must be published for five days and a lot of other tomfoolery gone through with, enough to disgust any fair minded person. Our legislators make it a point at every session to change the marriage law and seem to think that is all they are sent to Madison to do. It's got so now that William is first picked out by the girl, then picked over by the old folks, then picked to pieces by the doctor and clerk, then picked up by the preacher and married after five days; then if Bill picked a lemon in the garden of love he is picked on all the rest of his life. Young people will marry and now will go to Michigan to do so rather than be run down a gauntlet of curious eyes for a week.—Crandon Republican.

COMMUNICATION

Mr. Editor:—

It has been quite common of late in the turmoil originating from the present world conflict, that the most radical elements, in some parts of the country are more or less inclined thru the press or otherwise to besmirch the character of Senator LaFollette by ranting about his disloyalty and branding him a "traitor"—which was the same weapon used against our most distinguished figures in American history since its dawn; viz. Washington, Lincoln, Hamilton, Jefferson, etc., were stoned, burned in effigy, called spineless politicians and pictured as cravens. But today, all these names illuminate the pages of American history and minutely in the present great international exigency our statesmen, who are now holding the reins of the nation's destiny, go back to our past heroes for guides in their conceptions for all that is best for American citizenship.

Do you know that the metropolitan press is lying about LaFollette?

Do you know that LaFollette has favored every bill to better conditions for our soldiers and sailors since he has been in the senate?

Do you know that he secured an appropriation for $2,000,000 for the benefit of our soldiers and their dependents in the Mexican trouble?

Do you know that he favored every bill for appropriations to maintain and support our army and navy in this present war?

Do you know that, while opposed to the graft in 'principle' immediately upon its passage he advocated full obedience to the law?

Do you know that LaFollette fought the hardest fight of his life to make war profits bear a reasonable portion of war taxes and to relieve the poor from the high cost of living?

Do you know that it was largely thru his efforts that taxes on the poor man's breakfast table, on tea, coffee, cocoa and sugar was defeated?

Now, do you wonder why 'war profiteers' want to oust LaFollette—stifle free speech, and a free press?

MRS. W. ANTES

After a brief illness death came to Mrs. Walter Antes of this city Thursday evening last. Blood poisoning is given as the cause of her demise.

Mrs. Antes was eighteen years of age and leaves a husband and baby.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. Wilson of the M. E. church at the residence on Messer street Sunday afternoon.

The remains were taken to Shawano where interment took place Tuesday.

The death of this young woman is exceptionally sad and the bereaved husband has the sympathy of all in his loss.

ONE TON COAL FOR HOME USE

County Fuel Administrator O'Melia has received a notice from State Fuel Administrator W. N. Fitzgerald instructing him to see that not more than one ton of anthracite coal is delivered at a time for domestic use. The reason is that stocks of anthracite coal are rapidly becoming depleted and it will not be long before people will have to rely upon the use of bituminous coal as a substitute. Mr. O'Melia is asked to urge the use of bituminous coal for furnaces and other purposes where it will take the place of anthracite. The communication further states that although more wood is being cut and used now than a month ago, it is not being used sufficiently as a coal substitute. If the people fully appreciated the seriousness of the coal situation they would have more wood cut, sawed and brought to the market for sale.

Retail dealers are asked not to send complaints to the state fuel administration about their inability to obtain coal unless it is absolutely necessary. A far better plan is to consult with dealers and compare notes as to just what orders have been placed and with how many and what companies.

Rhinelanders dealers have filled out and filed with the county fuel administration an account and complete report on tonnage of coal. The county administrator is instructed to put a stop to any coal hoarding he finds being practised. Dealers are requested to limit their deliveries of soft coal to any consumer, to not more than four weeks' supply and for the present to refuse to deliver coal to anyone who has a month's supply on hand. If it is found that people have used soft coal for some time they should not be permitted to change hard coal at this time. People who have been burning wood must continue to do so and farmers should obtain wood fuel from their own resources. People who have been using soft coal must not be furnished hard coal to the detriment of those who cannot use any thing else.

Retail dealers have been compelled to issue special reports giving their total receipts by months for the past three months.

To Save the Eyes.

To avoid straining the eyes a person of normal vision should hold the book to be read 15 or 18 inches from the face and on a direct line with the eyes. Never hold a book low while reading. The strain on the eyes is much greater when the book is held in the lap. If you make a practice of reading while lying down you should be careful to hold your book at the proper angle.

SAILOR TELLS OF FIRE AT NORFOLK

Nephew Of August Carlson Says Seamen Saved The
City

August Carlson, furniture dealer at 10 S. Brown street has received a letter from his nephew, Elroy Andrews of Escanaba, who is a sailor on the Battleship Mississippi. He was in Norfolk, Va., at the time of the recent big fire there and tells of doing guard duty. Extracts from his letter are published below:

U. S. S. Mississippi, Jan. 3, 1918.

Dear Uncle:—
New Years day we worked hard in the lighter all morning and in the afternoon I had settled down to writing letters when a hurry call for volunteers came to help fight fire. I was there and we double timed all the way to Norfolk. I bet we looked good to the firemen, who had already been out for 12 hours and the fire gaining. To put it short we saved the city. Sailors now have made and saved the place. After hauling and playing hose for a few hours I did a five hours guard on a corner. The streets were roped in a few blocks further on but I was awfully busy inspecting passes and ordering those out who had no passes. It took us a long time to clear the streets. Funny, how many different ways they tried to pass. One even showed me an army officer's picture on a watch fob. We had no time for argument and orders were orders. We had to arrest any one suspicious too. Oh, but it was fun. I almost had to arrest one man but he didn't really do anything wrong. It was awful cold and in his little 3x5 store he had no heat so started a small fire in a pail to warm his hands. I asked a fireman about it but nothing doing. Naturally the man objected strenuously.

Any one who wanted to buy kerosene we sent men along to watch. One man we were forced to make "Hands up" while we went thru his grip. No fooling that night but the most of the people acted sensible and said, "You have charge now so go ahead." Once we had a bomb scare. Someone threw a black pack age in front of a hole, half a block from my corner and only a block from the center of the fire. The people in the hotel (what were left, about 15) came piling out and run past me yelling "Run for your life. A bomb." I didn't believe about the bomb altho I could see it and besides I had never witnessed a bomb explosion, so I played hero and did my duty and stuck to my corner. The bomb turned out to be two quarts of perfectly good whiskey. Virginia is dry but even the cops passed drinks around to the sailors. I was unlucky tho, but I got plenty of hot coffee and a few sandwiches. While working on the hose we got drenched to the skin and were covered with ice.

Yesterday morning there was a big blizzard and I had a four hour watch to do. Nothing very important, only to arrest all suspicious characters and keep the people moving. I was awfully busy as I had in my block the Western Union, a bank, Naval Recruiting office and a boarding house. I had no trouble tho.

We had a lot of fun and I guess the danger did us good. They think a whole lot more of us now in the city. Everyone behaved himself.

Today we worked all morning knocking the ice off the deck. It's hard because we have to be so careful of the deck. This afternoon we were on supplies again. Had to work after supper to finish them and we have two 1200 lbs boxes to take up in the morning.

Tomorrow afternoon the captain inspects the ship, so I suppose will spend the morning over our holystones, like we did last Friday. I guess they are called holystones because of the fervent words poured over them. It sure does inspire a lot of originality. A man has a totally different worded sermon but it all means just about the same, like all sermons. Our hearts were saddened today by discovering a flat car of these here objects of adoration. It was heart rending. Can you imagine us?

I'll write to the rest soon.
ELROY.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

On Dec. 10, 1917, the British army under General Allenby captured the city of Jerusalem. Since the year 637 this city of sacred memories has been in possession of the Moslems, with the exception of the 13th century when it was taken by the Crusaders. There is no city in the world with so interesting and important a history as Jerusalem. It has been besieged 27 times, and many times destroyed. There is no city about which cluster so many memories of events dear to Christians. There fore it has seemed fitting that its possession by a Christian nation should be commemorated. We will hold a special service of commemoration Sunday evening at 7:30. This service was planned for last week, but on account of the storm the necessary lantern slides did not arrive. Therefore the service will be held Sunday, Jan. 20. Scripture passages relating to Jerusalem will be illustrated by views of the city. Miss Walter will sing "The Holy City". This beautiful song will be illustrated by 12 hand colored stereopticon slides, so that one will not only hear the dream of the singer, but will also see with his own eyes the "Old Jerusalem" and the "New Jerusalem" of the song. The sermon will discuss the significance of this sacred city to the Christian of today. Jerusalem, the city of Bible times and of sacred memories, will have fresh meaning for all who attend the service Sunday evening at 7:30.

Charles H. Wicks, Pastor.

DEPENDENTS GET FIRST CHECK

Distribution of allowances and allotment checks to the dependents of enlisted men in the army and navy of the United States began last week, and the machinery of the bureau of war risk insurance for handling the large number of monthly payments is now in full operation. A considerable proportion of the first checks reached the beneficiaries before Christmas.

The first checks represent allotments made by enlisted men from their November, 1917, pay, together with the stipulated government allowances added thereto.

Every enlisted man in the military and naval forces of the United States who has a wife and children dependent on him is required to allot for their support during the war at least $15 a month, but not more than half his pay. To these allotments the government adds monthly allowances ranging from $5 for one motherless child or $15 for a wife without children and an additional amount if there be children. Allotments for a wife and children are compulsory. But if the enlisted man wishes to make allotments for a dependent brother, sister, parents, or grandchild, the government will add certain allowances thereto, depending on the size of the family and the amount, if any, already paid by the government to the enlisted man's wife and children.

INSPECTORS FOR SIGNAL CORPS

1. Preference will be given to men of mature years. All applicants must be able to command the respect of executives and manufacturers.

2. The appropriation for this important work provides for salaries ranging from $1200 to $1800 a year and men who wish to serve their Government in this way must be prepared to accept salaries, and should consider it from a standpoint of patriotism rather than of salary. Comparison should be borne in mind with the risk and income of the man at the front whose safety and efficiency it is sought to enhance by this inspection service.

3. Your attention is called to the fact that these men are to be used as inspectors in the manufacture of Signal Corps equipment. The man who is expert in electric wiring or in running an automobile, but who is not experienced in their production is not necessarily in any way qualified to inspect the manufacture of the insulation of the wire or the manufacture of ball bearings for automobiles. These illustrations are typical of the work required.

1. Building Inspectors or Superintendents of construction are not necessarily qualified for this particular manufacturing work.

UNIFORM PIG CROP

One of the First Considerations
in Selecting Original Herd.

CONFORMATION OF GOOD SOW

Many Judges of Swine Regard Good Roomy Females as Being Especially High in Fecundity—Male
Is Half the Herd.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In feeding hogs for the market, as also with any other class of meat animals, larger returns are obtained when the stock is as nearly uniform as possible, and as it is very profitable for each farmer to breed his own feeders, particular attention should be given to the selection of the original breeding stock. Uniformity is of primary importance, for to have a uniform crop of pigs there must be uniformity in the breeding herd, and to obtain this must be one of the first considerations in selecting the original herd.

The Sows.

The females of the herd may be obtained by purchasing bred sows or gilts safely in pig to a boar of recognized worth. As it is often difficult to obtain a sow which has shown herself to be a good breeder by the previous litters she has produced, it is advisable for economy's sake to purchase bred gilts. These should be about twelve months old, being bred after the age of eight months, and if possible all should be in pig to the same boar. Here is the first opportunity to practice selection for uniformity; whether pure-bred or not, the sows should be similar in color, marking, type and conformation. The type of the sows selected should be the one which the market demands. While there is some variation between the different breeds, it is largely a matter of characteristics, as a good individual, no matter what breed it represents, if properly fed and managed will make economical gains.

Conformation.

In conformation a brood sow should show first of all femininity. This is well marked in the hog if a close observation is made, and is characterized by quality and refinement in all parts of the body. The bristles are finer and less erect than those of the boar, giving the sow a smoother appearance. The forehead is smoother, the neck much thinner, and a little longer in proportion to the rest of the body. The shoulders are not as heavy, although eight months old, for the selection of a weanling pig that will mature into the kind of breeding animal demanded in any particular case is a very difficult and precarious undertaking. In selecting the male, aim to correct any faults which may be present in the conformation of the sows. These faults may be discovered in the several months between the first purchase of the bred gilts and the time when it is necessary to breed again for the second litter. It is seen here why uniformity is of such importance in the herd, for the common fault of the sows may be corrected in the offspring by the use of a boar particularly strong in that characteristic; but if the sows are not uniform—if, for example, one has high quality with lack of scale, while another has the opposite characters—it will be impossible to select one boar that can correct the faults of both.

The boar must show masculinity first of all. This is characterized by a strong head, a thick well-crested neck, well-developed shoulders, stiff bristles, and a little coarser hair than is found in a sow of the same weight and age. His visible reproductive organs should be well developed. By no means select a boar having only one testicle, or one having two small, ill-defined ones. Constitution should be strongly in evidence, for this indicates the vitality necessary to get strong, healthy pigs. The market type indicated for the sows should be found in the boar, namely, a long, strong, well-arched back, thickly covered with flesh—not fat; a well-rounded, plump ham; a deep, smooth side; and a trim underline. He must have quality, but with it strength of bone and scale. A small, over-refined boar is often lacking in masculinity. Strength of bone is shown in the development of the feet and legs, and the manner in which the animal carries himself upon his toes. As the hind pasterns are very prone to become weak with age and may interfere seriously with serviceability, select a young boar, one that stands well up on his toes. This characteristic is found only in one having excellent strength and quality of bone.

It is well to select a boar at least

they must not be narrow, for such a condition is an indication of lack of constitution. By no means accept any breeding animal that is narrow-chested, for it is a sure indication of lack of vitality and consequently of breeding ability. Ample capacity in the middle should be provided by well-sprung ribs, and long, deep sides. Many judges of hogs regard good roomy sows as being especially high in fecundity, and this characteristic is certainly no detriment to their conformation, provided it is combined with quality.

A sow should show the type demanded in a market animal, namely, a strong, wide, deeply fleshed back; smoothly covered shoulders; plump, well-rounded hams; and a trim, neat underline. A wide, well-developed pelvic cavity will insure easy parturition, and the udder should be evenly and well developed and have at least 12 teats. Her legs should be strong and well placed, have good clean bone, and strong, straight pasterns. It is not of as great importance to have perfect feet and legs in a sow as in a male, but she should show no weakness at this point. A sow should have scale and size, combined with quality. Strong, clean, hard bone, trim joints, neat ears, fine, glossy bristles, and freedom from folds and wrinkles in the skin, are all indications of quality. A large, raw-boned sow, having plenty of capacity and size, but lacking in femininity and quality, is one of the poorest investments a breeder can make, for her pigs will be slow to develop, hard to fatten, and lacking both in numbers and in uniformity.

Selection.

If possible, the first purchase of sows should be made from one herd, for in this manner it is easier to get uniformity. Uniformity goes deeper than the mere visible type or conformation; it is determined by past ancestry and is controlled by the characteristics contained in the germplasm. The germplasm is continuous, extending from individual to individual, and any member of the chain shows in its visible conformation only a few of the possibilities.

able combinations. In other words, a sow may not produce offspring similar in type to herself, unless her ancestors were of the same type. By selecting the sows from one herd, it is not only possible to choose animals similar in visible type, but they are apt to be similar in dominant characteristics as well. In buying such animals the farmer is not purchasing separate individuals to form so many breeding units, but rather kindred individuals, all parts of a single established line or type which will blend together to form a single breeding unit.

At best, it is impossible to choose sows that will produce true to type, for as yet no line of breeding is absolutely pure, but by selecting the sows in this manner, the chances for uniformity are immeasurably increased. Some mistakes are bound to be made, and their correction will be difficult, but by keeping records of the breeding stock and their produce, it will be possible to dispose of undesirable individuals as their poor reproductive ability becomes known. One ideal must always be uppermost in the breeder's mind, and the stock must constantly approach nearer to that one ideal in order to make any real progress. It is relatively easy to produce hogs, but to produce uniform hogs, hogs that will build up and advance the breed, requires time and constant effort.

The Boar.

The farmer who lives in a community where it is possible to obtain the services of a good boar, and who has only a few sows, will not find it profitable to keep a male simply for use in his own herd. However, if he has six or more sows, or if it is impossible to get the use of his neighbor's boar when necessary, it will be well to purchase one of his own. It is often desirable to delay the purchase of the boar until some time after the original female stock has been selected. If the gilts were bred at the time of their purchase, the service of a boar will not be needed until several months later, when it is necessary to breed for the second lot of pigs. This is not only a saving of money at the time of starting the herd, when expenses are apt to be very heavy, but it also gives the breeder time to study the original sows along with their offspring and select a boar that will correct their faults.

There is a hackneyed but nevertheless true expression that the "male is half the herd." He really does represent 50 per cent of the breeding stock, and therefore is the most important individual in the whole herd, but granting that he forms half, the sows most certainly constitute the other half, even though their influence is divided into several parts. Certainly both halves are equally important and neither can well be neglected at the expense of the other.

It is well to select a boar at least
